

$10,000 SUIT IS FILED HERE

An action in trespass brought by a Washington, D. C. couple seeking $10,000 from the C. H. Musselman company, Biglerville, was filed today in the prothonotary's office here. Plaintiffs are Ernest W. Brown and his wife, Mrs. Olga K. Brown.

The complaint alleges that Mrs. Brown, while a visitor to the Musselman company's plant at Inwood, W. Va., on October 10, 1946, and while being shown through the plant, slipped and fell on a stairway and was injured.

The complaint alleges that there was mud and water on the steps, and the presence of employees prevented her from using a handrail or seeing the condition of the steps.

Injuries Listed

It is further alleged that Mrs. Brown was thrown to the bottom of the stairway, against a brick wall, and suffered lacerations of her scalp, contusions of her right leg, a sprained right wrist, shock and disfigurement. She also alleges that her eyeglasses were broken and her clothing torn and soiled.

The plaintiffs ask $5,000 for pain, suffering and shock; $2,000 for future pain, suffering and shock and $500 for disfigurement; $60 for medical and hospital expenses; Mr. Brown seeks $1,500 for loss of his wife's services and $890 for future loss of her services and $50 for damage to eyeglasses and clothing.

The papers were filed by Attorney Eugene V. Bullett, Gettysburg, representing the plaintiffs.

HOLD HEARINGS ON INJURY CASES

Petitions to terminate previous agreements in Workmen's Compensation cases were heard this morning in the court room here by John B. Graybill, Lancaster, referee for the workmen's compensation bureau.

In both cases the matter involved termination of compensation ordered granted to employees of county concerns who have since returned to their employment with their injuries cured.

Nick Gottuso, Aspers, and William Stough, Aspers, for the Penn Ceramic company, testified in one case concerning an injury which occurred March 13, 1946, to Gottuso while he was employed at the Penn Ceramic plant. Both agreed that the injury had healed and that Gottuso has returned to work.

In the other case Robert P. Slaybaugh, Gettysburg R. 3, testified that he has recovered from lacerations received September 6, 1946, when his right arm was caught in a tomato slicing machine at the National Fruit Product corporation. Dr. Raymond Hale presented medical testimony to the same effect.

Edward B. Bullett was attorney for Gottuso and the National Fruit corporation in the two cases while Attorney Richard A. Brown represented Slaybaugh.

U.S. To Pay Cost In British Zone

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—Prodded by an urgent new plea from London, the United States was reported making preparations today to assume a large share of Britain's occupation costs in Germany.

Presumably, however, American action to meet the British dollar crisis will be on only a temporary basis, pending final action on the Marshall recovery plan for Europe.

The State and War Departments disclosed last night that the British embassy had sent word that Britain will run out of dollars to cover its expenditures in Germany about the end of this year. From that time on, the embassy said, the British government will be unable to make any more dollars available for maintaining the civilian population in the British occupation zone.

with 157 votes, captured the GOP nominations. High men for the Democrats on "write-ins" were Harold Cromwell with 12 votes and H. M. Oyler with six.

Other Balloting

Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore captured both nominations for re-election as justice of the peace. With his name on the GOP ballots, Baschore received a large vote there while Democratic friends cast 91 ballots to give him their party's nomination also.

With no names on the ballots for the single nomination for borough auditor, Carl S. Menchey appeared in the unofficial count to have won both nominations with a handful of votes and over a scattering shower of "write-ins" for a dozen other individuals.

Results of the balloting for election board positions in the four local voting districts are as follows: First Ward, 1st Precinct, judge of elections, Anna Bracey, and inspector, Freda Trostle on the Republican ticket; and on the Democratic ticket judge, Clifford C. Bream, and inspector, C. C. Bream.

Second Precinct: Republican, judge, George A. Bender and inspector, Paul Oyler; Democratic, judge, George Bender and John Dottera, two each; inspector, George March.

Second ward: Republican, judge, Tyson Tipton, and inspector, D. D. Kendlehart; and Democrats, Tyson Tipton for judge and Ernest Ziegler for inspector.

Third ward: Republican, judge, Elizabeth Redding, and inspector, Edna Snyder; Democratic, judge, Elizabeth Redding, and inspector, Annie Cunningham.

Election Briefs

Only about 38 per cent of the qualified voters in the county voted on Tuesday. Election records show 6,215 ballots were cast. There are 16,313 registered voters.

Tuesday's votes cost the county 40 cents each. Recently increased pay rates for election board members helped boost that figure and the light vote helped boost the "per ballot" cost of the election.

The last district to report its election results to the court house was Cumberland township. That election board reached the county building at 4:45 o'clock this morning with its locked ballot boxes and return sheets.

The first district to report was the second district of Hamiltonban township where only about 25 ballots were cast. That board reported at 10:15 o'clock.

The first voting district of Mt. Pleasant township came in 15 minutes later and by midnight only eight of the 42 districts had reported their results. The first precinct board of the First ward was the first Gettysburg board to report, coming in at 1 a. m. The Second ward was the last local district to finish its count at 3:20 a. m.

Incomplete tickets doubled the work of election boards in most districts and the writing in of names for many local offices added to the length of their task.

Writing in reached a record high in East Berlin Tuesday where voters wrote 48 names on Republican ballots and 74 on those of the Democratic party.

In spite of that burden the East Berlin election board turned in the neatest and most legible return sheet of any board in the county. It was filled out by the judge of elections, L. D. Spangler.

The widespread lack of interest in the primaries was evidenced by the comparatively small crowd that gathered at the commissioners' office at the court house to hear the returns come in.

There was only a handful at 10:15 p. m. when the first district came in, and although a fair crowd gathered by midnight, only two county officials and two reporters were on hand to greet the last board that reported at 4:45 o'clock this morning.

The official count of Tuesday's votes will begin at the court house at noon Friday with the help of extra clerks appointed by the county commissioners.

No matter who wins the election for county commissioners in November, Tuesday's nominations assured Adams county a completely new board of commissioners for the first time in many years. Political veterans at the court house Tuesday night said it has been 20 years since the county has elected an all-new board. Other elections have found one or more of the old board successful candidates for re-election. None of the present board is campaigning this time.

PINCH HITTER SMASHES HOMER TO BEAT BUMS

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Somebody should have warned the Brooklyn Dodgers about halfbacks. Here they go traipsing west, secure in their own little baseball world with never a thought about a man-in-motion, and in their first start they are mousetrapped by an ex-Green Bay Packer named Cliff Abern.

Abern, a fellow who appears to know his own mind, is said to have threatened to desert baseball, his first love, if he wasn't moved up from Des Moines of the western league to the Chicago Cubs.

Yesterday when Manager Charlie Grimm sent him to the plate as an eighth-inning pinch hitter with the bases loaded and the Cubs trailing Brooklyn, 3-0, Abern belted a Vic Lombardi pitch into the stands for a grand slam homer.

Reese Misplays

Lombardi had been pitching a one-hit game for seven innings, until Bob Scheffing and Bill Nicholson opened the eighth with singles. Ray Mack, making his first start for the Cubs, bounced an easy double play grounder to Pee Wee Reese but the Dodgers' shortstop messed it up and the bases were full. Clyde McCullough fanned, then came Abern to make it 4-3 and cut the Dodger lead to 4½ games.

The St. Louis Cards, whose season record is dotted with missed opportunities, didn't fail to take advantage of this one, mowing down the Philadelphia Phils, 2-0, in a night game to slice that full game off the Brooks' lead.

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds, turned in a job that would have been enough to grab the headlines most days, when he celebrated Walters' win by blanking Boston, 2-0, with four hits. After accepting a shiny new car, and other gifts, Walters mowed down the tough Braves for his 198th major league victory and 42nd shutout, tops among the active hurlers in the league.

Another For Giants

The New York Giants continued to make the most of their specialty, the home run, downing Pittsburgh, 3-1, on Jack Lohrke's blast over the fence with one on in the ninth. It was Clint Hartung's ninth triumph and Preacher Roe's 13th setback.

American league action centered around the second-place scrap between Boston and Detroit as the New York Yankees and Cleveland were not scheduled.

With the help of Jake Jones' three-run homer and some relief pitching by Johnny Murphy, Joe Dobson copped his 16th game for Boston by a 5-3 edge over Detroit. The result left the Red Sox a game and a half ahead of the third-place Tigers.

Al Zarilla's triple, followed by Jeff Heath's fly, enabled St. Louis' Ellis Kinder to down Philadelphia, 1-0, despite a three-hit job by Phil Marchildon. Kinder struck out seven and walked five, while scattering five hits.

Luke Appling set a new American league record by playing his 1986th game at shortstop for Chicago, breaking the old mark set by Roger Peckinpaugh, as the White Sox thumped Washington, 6-1.

Chicago Cardinals In Action Tonight

Chicago, Sept. 10 (P)—Chicago football fans will get their first chance to see the 1947 Chicago Cardinals tonight, along with their new backfield ace Charlie Trippi, in an exhibition professional football game with the New York Giants before an estimated 40,000 fans in Comiskey park.

The game, sponsored by the Chicago Daily News with proceeds to go to the newspaper's veterans' fund, is known as the Charley Bidwill Memorial game. A ceremony will be held before the kickoff honoring the late owner of the Cardinals, who long was identified with Chicago sports promotions.

The highly touted Cardinals, for many years a National league doormat, will show off their "dream backfield" of Trippi, formerly of Georgia, Marshall Goldberg, Pat Harder and Paul Christman.

Last Friday night in Buffalo the Cards won their first exhibition of the season downing the Philadelphia Eagles 38 to 21. The Giants have thus far won over the Eastern College All-Stars 21 to 0 and lost to the Green Bay Packers 17-14 in Green Bay.

Eagles Break Camp For Game With Bears

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Sept. 10 (P)—The National Football league have broken up their pre-season training camp here and headed back to the Quaker City for Saturday's exhibition game against the Chicago Bears.

Coach Greasy Neale announced Neil Armstrong and Pete Pihos, rookie ends, and Center Vic Lindskog as well as Quarterback Tommy Thompson may not see action against the Bears because of minor injuries.

Listed as a probable starter, however, is Bill MacKrides, the nation's leading collegiate scorer last year at the University of Nevada.

Spring Grove, Md. Gets Trophy Again

Harrisburg, Sept. 10 (P)—The Clark Griffith trophy, emblematic of supremacy in the All-American Amateur Baseball Association tournament, returned to Spring Grove, Md., for the second straight year.

The Maryland nine was forced to play an extra game last night to clinch the title but when the pressure was the greatest the Spring Grove boys were at their best.

Prior to last night's final the defending champions had romped through all opposition without a setback, and needed only a win over the Heurich Brewers of Washington, D. C., to close the tournament without a setback. Then Washington jolted the dope and won a 2-0 victory.

As a result of the Washington victory the two teams were deadlocked for the crown, and went right back on Island Field to play for the championship. This time Spring Grove was the winner, 4 to 3, and once more title-holders.

Miss Sigel Leads Field For Women

Harrisburg, Sept. 10 (P)—It is still the field against Miss Helen Sigel as eight surviving feminine golfers go out today to compete in the quarter-finals of the eleventh annual Pennsylvania women's state golf championship at the country club of Harrisburg.

The Philadelphia country club star, who won the medal with a record-breaking score of 75, was still very much on her game yesterday as she eliminated Miss Josephine Smith of Merion from the tournament by a margin of six up and five to play.

Two Philadelphia favorites, Mrs. John Gessler and Mrs. John G. Capers, Jr., were very much in the running for the title after the first round was completed, but Mrs. Gessler was forced to go to the 20th green to win from Miss Betty Knoedler of South Hills.

Miss Jane Martin, western Pennsylvania champion, and Mrs. Thomas Nolan of New Castle carried the colors of the Pittsburgh area into today's quarter-finals, along with Mrs. J. P. Staphinskias, of Carlisle, winner of a 22 hole match yesterday, and two Harrisburg contenders, Mrs. John S. Thatcher and Mrs. Frank Slack.

LEOPARD GRID COACH PLEASSED WITH CHANCES

Easton, Pa., Sept. 10 (P)—A new spirit prevails at Lafayette college where Ivy Williamson, 17th head coach in the 66-year football history of the school believes the general opinion that football coaches are born pessimists and promises that the Leopard grid prospects are on the upgrade.

Williamson came to Lafayette last March after 12 years as assistant football coach at Yale university and three years as assistant to Potay Clark, coach of the Pensacola air station during the recent war.

The new Lafayette mentor was well pleased with spring drills, emphasizing that there was no defeatism in the squad that won only two of the nine 1946 games. And as he whips his team through fall drills, the former University of Michigan grid star and honor student, indicates that Lafayette will not be a soft touch for any opponent.

"If hard work, perseverance and patience can produce results, Lafayette's eleven will give a good account of itself in every game this season and will be the pride of Maroon followers no matter what the score."

Tough Schedule

Lafayette faces no easy task in lifting its football fortunes. A tough nine game card includes Muhlenberg, one of the best small college teams in the east last year; powerful Penn. and Syracuse, Rutgers and traditional Lehigh.

Williamson must count entirely on members of last year's squad since like most schools Lafayette has reinstated the freshman rule. As a result several experiments were conducted during the spring sessions that would lend elasticity and versatility to the squad.

Notable among the experiments were the conversion of Captain Tod Saylor from a center to end; shifting of end Tom Graham into the backfield, and switching from tackle to guard of Gordon Schler.

Other candidates who have impressed Williamson and on whom he is counting heavily are ends Herman Schenck, Winston Williams and Joe Trickett; tackles Josh Zahurak, Tom Harkel and Dick Engel; guards Ralph Hackett and Gene Simpson; centers Carl Potter and Robert Dutrey, and backs Al Blazewski, Walter Gernusa, Daniel Poore, Andy Kovacs, Bill Bruckman, Bill Schofield, Tom Graham, Dick Titus, Leonard Spitalo and Salvatore Piperato.

The schedule: Muhlenberg, September 27; Penn at Philadelphia October 4; Gettysburg, October 11; Bucknell, October 18; at Washington and Jefferson, October 25; Syracuse, Nov. 1; Rutgers, Nov. 8; at Fordham, November 15; at Lehigh, November 22.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 10 (P)—If you're puzzled about the fuss over Olympic hockey (and who isn't), the whole thing seems basically an argument between the amateur athletic union, which "gave up" on hockey and the Amateur Hockey Associations of the United States and Canada, which kept the game going through the war by stretching amateur standards to the limit of elasticity. . . . Both groups are interested mainly in the gate receipts and hockey is the only Olympic winter sport that brings in important cash. . . . By-passing efforts at detailed explanations (which you likely wouldn't understand any more than you understand that Glenn Dobbs-Angelo Bertelli-Hunchy Hoernschmeyer football deal), the upshot probably will be that the United States and Canada will be represented only by bush-league teams, if at all, and a European nation finally will win the Olympic title.

HOT UNDER THE COLLIER

Robin Brown, Paul's boy, and Bill Edwards, Jr., son of the Cleveland Browns' tackle coach, both had ambitions to be T-formation quarterbacks on the sophomore teams at their respective high schools, this fall. . . . Being smart kids, they both went to the Browns' training camp to interview Backfield Coach Blanton Collier, an expert on the "T". . . . Because of a mixup, Robin failed to see Collier while Bill was filled up with instructions. . . . As soon as young Brown reported to his Shaker Heights coach, he was established at quarterback and still holds the job. . . . At Cleveland Heights young Edwards, loaded with T formation tricks, was advised to forget quarterbacking and now is playing guard.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Average attendance at seven all-America conference football games to far is 37,482, beating last year's figures for the same games by about 15,000 a game. . . . J. B. McKale, Arizona U. baseball coach, is starting fall practice and expects 80 candidates. Wonder why more college coaches don't try the same stunt; they'd have better weather than in the spring. . . . California's George Engel, age 72, claims to be the oldest active fight manager except Billy McCarney. They did business together in Philadelphia 50 years ago. . . . Frank Wallace's annual "pigskin preview" hits the newsstands today. Fortunately for Frank, nobody else checks up on his predictions at the end of the season.

MAROONS DRILL WITH CANNERS

In preparation for the opening game of the season with Delone Catholic high of McSherrystown here Friday evening, the Gettysburg high school football squad engaged in a long scrimmage with Biglerville high on the local gridiron Tuesday afternoon.

A number of improvements were noted in the Maroon squad particularly in the effective tallying. Several backs stood out as fast, hard runners and will make strong bids for starting assignments. Apparently the stiff competition among the candidates is paying dividends. Some of the lighter lads are off-setting the more rugged physical advantages of their competitors with scrap and hustle which may earn them considerable varsity action.

Canners Promising

Biglerville presented a big, husky squad which with a little more drilling will make the Canners stiff competition for all of their opponents. The proteges of Coaches Haas and Herr play their first game at Biglerville Thursday evening, September 18, with St. Francis Prep.

In order to facilitate the purchase of tickets at the field, cement block booths are being erected which will give the field four ticket booths. Tickets may be purchased in advance for the game and are now on sale at the Peoples drug store. General admission will be 60 cents.

Installation of a loud speaking system has begun on the field and may be completed in time for the opening game. The horns for the system were purchased by last year's senior class.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

The Utica Blue Sox, Eastern league pennant winners, were nosed out, 7-6, last night by the third-place Wilkes-Barre Barons as semi-final play for the Governors' cup opened.

A ninth-inning run gave the Albany Senators a 10-9 victory over Scranton at the start of their best-of-seven series.

The Barons built up their win in the second inning with five runs, but the Sox moved close to a tie in the eighth. Trailing 7-2, the champions scored four times on five hits. Scranton wore away Albany's fifth-inning six-run lead to tie the score in the eighth. Earl Turner's safety to center brought home Vic Barnhart with the Senator's winning run.

OVERLOADING LIFE

You know what happens to an airplane when overloaded—or to any other conveyance, for that matter. It just doesn't function properly. Neither does life function properly when overloaded—with worries, loose ends, unfinished tasks, troubles, regrets, and piled-up intentions.

As we grow older we know that our carrying equipment must be lightened. We cannot overload. Something within us revolts, or sends a message to headquarters that enough is enough—and no more! We are wise if we learn to simplify each oncoming year of our lives, and seek to increase our enjoyments, and our usefulness, rather than mere laudatory responsibilities.

In my favorite city eating place I like to listen to the chatter about me and watch the response of faces to the talk. What do I hear? Well, mostly continual conversation about business, money, or what I would term just froth talk! Near me, recently however, sat a young man and his attentive companion—a young lady. He was talking about a part of the country that I knew and loved. And he was talking about birds—of all things, in a restaurant! It was so refreshing that I immediately ordered another portion of dessert, for even though I did not catch all that was said, it was such a joy to be near a couple who were not overloading their lives with useless equipment.

Robert Louis Stevenson speaks of some people as traveling "hopelessly." You can pick out such people on the street. They have a happy look. They are not over-burdened with useless weight. They show happy purposes even in their faces. They have a springy step!

We can do only so much with each one of our days, and also only so much in this brief life of ours. But there are those who will continually crowd things, and try to force more out of life than there is allotted to them. We should endeavor to be selective in what we do—selecting such work as most fits our taste and interest. Then we will accomplish most with a minimum of waste in energy.

We can even unload life for ourselves and those about us, by dispensing with what gloom we may own, and distribute a goodly supply of cheer and good will!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Readiness and Acceptance"

Just Folks

The Poet of the People
By EDGAR A. GUEST

SENSITIVE GARDEN

It seems to me a garden is like people that I know. Who must be given attention or a pout begins to show. The fancy they've been slighted and neglect they cannot bear. So they sit and sulk in corners and refuse the fun to share. Well, a garden that's been slighted is as pitiful to see. For ugliness starts creeping in where beauty ought to be.

A garden plot is sensitive; it wants its friends to show. That it is truly cherished by the care that they bestow. It's selfish and it's jealous; be it left or fancied slight. As one who takes to drinking, it becomes a sorry sight. A garden craves attention, wants the love for it displayed. And if it's ever slighted, every rose begins to fade.

A garden must be pampered and be fondled as a child. Or the weeds will overtake it and will soon be running wild. Then haggard and disheveled will the phlox and larkspur be. And weary things and seedy will be all that's there to see. Yes, a garden's much like people over-sensitive to slight. It must be given attention or it ceases to delight.

LICHTENWALTER BEATS STORCH BY BIG MARGIN

(By The Associated Press)

Organized labor took a beating in a special Congressional election in the 8th Pennsylvania District Tuesday but supporters of both the winning Republican and the losing Democrat took opposite views on the result's affect.

Save for this hotly-contested race in the Bucks-Lehigh county area, Pennsylvania's first postwar primary held little interest for more than 70 per cent of the state's 4,300,000 registered and eligible voters.

Despite good weather in all sections, balloting was exceptionally light with about 1,200,000 going to the polls.

Storch Smothered

Interest was nationwide, however, concerning the 8th Pennsylvania District race. Here Republican Franklin H. Lichtenwalter scored a smashing triumph in defeating Democrat Phil H. Storch for the seat in Congress held for 10 years by the late GOP Rep. Charles Gerlach.

Storch had based his campaign on the Taft-Hartley labor law which was stoutly defended by Lichtenwalter as "bi-partisan" legislation.

G. Mason Owlett, GOP national committeeman from Pennsylvania, called Lichtenwalter's election "a smashing rebuke to the radical labor bosses who chose to make the Taft-Hartley labor management act the paramount issue of the election."

Owlett said in a statement the Republican victory "was of national significance and, in my opinion, a prelude to the election of a Republican president and a Republican Congress in 1948."

Different Versions

But the supporters of the 36-year-old Storch—virtually all the unions in the Lehigh-Bucks county farm-industrial district—had a different version.

A statement issued by the United Labor Division of the Storch-for-Congress committee and signed by officials in the CIO, AFL and Railroad Brotherhoods said:

"We've just begun to fight. We don't consider the vote as a reputation on the Taft-Hartley labor law issue."

The 37-year-old Lichtenwalter, speaker of the state House of Representatives, thanked the voters for their support and said his election "certified in an indisputable manner your faith in your constitutional form of government and government by law."

Samuel Wins

Storch, however, contended in a post-election statement that the contest was not "a true test of the people's belief or disbelief in the Taft-Hartley law" because "there were other elements and adverse propaganda which entered into the campaign."

Philadelphia, the Keystone state's largest metropolitan area and the nation's sixth city, nominated mayoralty candidates as did 27 third class municipalities.

Bernard Samuel, the Quaker City's incumbent Republican mayor, won nomination on the GOP ticket by an overwhelming majority. He polled more than 50 votes for each one recorded by all of his four opponents combined. Democrat Richardson Dilworth won his party's nomination over one other candidate.

McClure Slate Wins

Former state Senator John J. McClure maintained control over Republican policies in Delaware county as candidates, backed by McClure, captured every GOP nomination by margins ranging up to three to one.

In Chester, regarded as the McClure stronghold, Ralph P. Swartz, incumbent mayor, was nominated over opposition from two independent campaigning on an anti-McClure ticket. Democrat John J. Burns was unopposed.

REFUSE VENUE CHANGE

Norristown, Pa., Sept. 10 (P)—Montgomery county court has rejected an appeal for a second change of venue by George W. Bales, Jr., headmaster of the defunct Westminster academy at Three Tuns, Pa.

Bales' third trial on moral charges in the Chester county court at West Chester, Pa., is scheduled to start next Monday.

Tokyo, Sept. 10 (P)—Kyodo News agency said Tuesday that former Premier Hideki Tojo, accused war criminal, evidently is resigned to death and already has acquired his post-humous name, in conformance with Japanese custom.

The name selected, it said, was "Eishoin Shakuji Komoyori Koji," meaning, roughly, "Crimes committed in lifetime can be atoned by death."

WETS COUNT 77 WINS AND DRY 65 IN VOTING

Harrisburg, Sept. 10 (P)—Wet forces counted 77 victories and the drys 67—25 of them switches from wet to dry—as the returns rolled in today in local option referenda in more than 200 Pennsylvania communities.

With the vote in scores of communities, many of them rural, still being tabulated, the count in the continuing liquor-beer controversy stood at:

Liquor

From wet to dry—10.
From dry to wet—two.
Remained wet—37.
Remained dry—25.

Beer

From wet to dry—15.
From dry to wet—None.
Remained wet—38.
Remained dry—17.

An upset for the wets came in Greene county, where Waynesburg, the county seat, voted against the sale of both liquor and beer for the first time.

Weak, Watery Blood Blamed for Making Men and Women Look and Feel Older THAN THEIR YEARS

How do you feel at the end of a day? Is that old time pep and drive lacking? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? 750,000,000 Americans now retaining glowing good looks and vitality through the release of vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to re-form those that are worn out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a general run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloated and give off that sour food taste. Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

In New Salem, York county, there was an 85-85 tie on the question of permitting the sale of beer, while the drys won by one vote in Permanagh township, Mifflin county, in malt beverage referenda.

Separate referenda must be held on liquor and beer and many communities voted on both questions. A liquor licensee can sell both liquor and beer, however.

Interesting News Of Upper Adams Countians And Their Enterprises

SCHOOL BOARDS IN UPPER-END LIKE JOINTURE

Five of the six school boards in the Upper county joint district expressed themselves as well pleased with the way in which the jointure is progressing at an informal meeting of the boards Monday night at Biglerville.

The boards are attempting to designate one night per month when all boards will hold their regular meetings in the same building. In that way, members point out, if there is need for the joint board to meet, the six individual boards will be available.

With only the Arendtsville board absent Monday, the boards, after their regular sessions, met in an informal gathering under the chairmanship of Elliot Taylor, at which Leslie V. Stock, superintendent of the joint schools reported activities within the school system since the opening of school.

Revise Bus Schedules—The transportation committee of the joint board explained plans to continue revision of bus schedules in order to reduce hauling time and to provide better service for all youngsters in the district.

Superintendent Stock reported that some of the equipment for the cafeterias to be installed at Biglerville and Arendtsville elementary centers has been shipped and is expected to arrive this week.

He also reported that the voice-recording machine purchased three years ago by the Biglerville school system to provide better instruction in elocution will be utilized for the benefit of the youngsters throughout the entire district.

Twenty-two members of the 30 man board were present including five from Biglerville, four from Bendersville, four from Menallen township, four from Tyrone township and five from Butler township.

New Schedule—Stock also explained that students in the Biglerville high school attend six and a half hours a day instead of the required six. In that way, he said, time can be gained for such activities as were carried out last week when half-day sessions only were conducted to permit students to assist in the peach harvest.

Nearly 4,000 individual operations are required in manufacturing the parts of one watch.

FARM CALENDAR

Treat Barley Seed—Barley seed not known to be completely free of stripe and loose and covered smuts should be treated to prevent a recurrence of heavy attacks of these diseases as happened this summer, suggests L. O. Weaver, extension plant pathologist of the Pennsylvania State college. See your county agricultural agent for directions.

Prepare Corn Binder—Corn binders need to be thoroughly cleaned, inspected, lubricated, and placed in first-class condition before they go into the field for use, reminds C. G. Burress, extension agricultural engineer of the Pennsylvania State college. A few minutes of checking now may save hours when the harvest is in full swing.

Save a Life—Be sure to check for gas in the partly filled silo before entering it, urges R. H. Olmstead, extension dairy specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. Otherwise, you may lose your life. A lighted candle or lantern may be placed in the silo. If the light goes out, do not enter.

Remove Berry Canes—Remove old canes and weak spindly new canes from both black and red raspberry plantings now, says C. S. Bittner, Penn State fruit extension specialist. That will admit more light for the remaining canes and help them to grow more vigorously.

Season Lumber—The next few months will be ideal for air-seasoning of lumber, reports F. T. Murphy, Penn State extension forester.

Prepare New Lawn—Organic matter, about three cubic yards to a thousand square feet, is important in building a new lawn this fall, says A. E. Cooper, extension agronomist of the Pennsylvania State college. Lime and superphosphate are then added and all worked into the soil.

Control Cabbage Insects—Be sure to keep insects on late cabbage under control, urges S. G. Gesell, extension entomologist of the Pennsylvania State college. Use DDT spray or dust to control the insects, the imported cabbage worm, the cabbage looper, and the diamond back moth up to three weeks before harvest; then use rotenone.

Calves Need Vitamin A—Good legume hay that retains its green color is one of the best sources of vitamin A for dairy calves, says J. C. Nageotte, extension dairy specialist of the Pennsylvania State college.

topsoil. Before seeding, apply a complete fertilizer.

Cull Forest Trees—Proper culling of the farm woodlot gives a cash crop and leaves more space for the remaining trees to develop, reports F. T. Murphy, extension forester of the Pennsylvania State college. September and October are good months for checking the trees for culls.

Provide Pullet Comfort—When pullets are moved from the range to the laying house, be sure they have enough feed and comfortable living conditions, reminds F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultryman.

Dangerous Weeds—Leafy spurge and Johnson grass, both described as dangerous weeds, have made their appearance in small, scattered areas in Pennsylvania, reports J. B. R. Dickey, extension agronomist of the Pennsylvania State college. He suggests that county agricultural agents be informed at once of the presence of unfamiliar weeds, and that prompt steps be taken to eradicate them.

War on Blight—Because late blight has been spreading on tomatoes and potatoes, extension plant pathologists advise continued use of sprays or dusts.

Ventilate Storages—Opening up potato storages will dry them out and help put them in condition for storing the new crop.

Cut Sawlogs—Sawlogs cut in late summer, with the sap down, can be held safely until next spring for processing.

Great Salt Lake is the remnant of ancient Lake Bonneville which was once 850 deep where Salt Lake City now stands.

Plan Extension Club Conference

Adams county's Senior Extension club will have an opportunity to train its club officers and committee members at a district conference to be held by Pennsylvania State college October 29 at Boiling Springs, C. P. Lang, in charge of senior extension, State College announced today.

The conference will be one of seven similar programs to be held throughout the state during October and November.

Arranged in response to requests by the different clubs, the conferences will consist of an afternoon program, a dinner meeting and a night session, Lang said. Lang and other members of the Agricultural extension staff are scheduled to assist with the programs, the main purpose of which will be to strengthen the clubs through trained leadership and to consider the relationship of the clubs to their respective communities.

The Boiling Springs conference will be for clubs in Adams, Cumberland, York, Franklin, Perry, Lebanon, Huntingdon and Lancaster counties.

The United States has approximately 330 morning and 1,400 evening daily papers.

Weikert, Gettysburg, as one of their candidates but in the unofficial count no attempt was made to tabulate the results of the scores of "write-ins" for the second berth on the Democratic slate for the office.

P. S. Orner, Arendtsville, Republican, and Wilbur V. Redding, Cumberland township Democrat, won their respective party's nominations for county surveyor without opposition.

Walter J. Craumer, Fairfield, had no opposition for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.

No compilation was made of the county vote on the single candidate each party had put forth for the state Superior court judgeship.

ed that the Y-Teens enjoyed camping trips this summer and that Grace Sweitzer has been employed by the board as a part-time supervisor for this group. They have a balance of $46.49 in the treasury.

Mrs. John D. Teeter, chairman of Rotary, reported on activities for the month of September and Mrs. Charles Ogden, membership chairman, announced that she had completed the file of members and had made three complete copies, one for the office, one for the president and the other for the committee. Mrs. Sheldon Ackley spoke on public relations and Mrs. Floyd A. Carroll on world fellowship. Mrs. Carroll's committee is comprised of one member from each church.

Mrs. Charles Lawver reported on the month's activities of the Annie Danner club and Mrs. Wayne Keet, chairman of the house committee, told the board that coal had been ordered and delivered. She suggested weather-stripping for the front door and windows. She said the committee was considering papering the dining room and purchasing new drapes for that room. She gave special thanks to C. Tyson Tipton for placing name plates on a plaque in the living room. A recent purchase for the kitchen Mrs. Keet said, was a 40-cup coffee urn.

Preceding the business meeting, Mrs. Carroll had charge of devotions on the subject, "Nobility." Mrs. Ogden served as secretary for the meeting in the absence of Mrs. C. O. Schweizer.
